

ENJOY A WARM WELCOME TO A HISTORIC CITY WITH APEX CITY OF BATH HOTEL

A new place to stay

No matter the reason for visiting Bath, the brand new Apex City of Bath Hotel has accommodation covered.

The £35million, 177-bed property sits in the heart of the city, on the corner of James Street West – a short walk from Bath Spa Train station and close to plenty of top tourist attractions.

It's the city's largest hotel in terms of number of bedrooms, which include a range of doubles, suites and family rooms.

A new place to meet

Apex Hotels are renowned globally for their conferencing facilities and Bath is no different.

Apex's first opening in England outside London is Bath's only purpose-built city centre conference facility with capacity for up to 400 delegates.

A new place to eat

Locals and visitors will also have the chance to sample fantastic menus by the award-winning Ben Abercrombie – Apex City of Bath Hotel's Head Chef – in the hotel's chic restaurant and bar.

The ultimate place to be

To celebrate Apex's arrival in Bath, guests can enjoy the Ultimate Bath City Break package – the perfect way to experience the culture and heritage of the city.

Stay between 8 August and 20 November 2017 to enjoy:

- A one-night stay for two, including full cooked and continental breakfast
- A complimentary glass of prosecco each on arrival
- Access to the Roman Baths, The Fashion Museum and Victoria Art Gallery
- A two-hour spa voucher, per person, for the Thermae Bath Spa

Apex City of Bath Hotel complements everything that's going on in the city and is the perfect base for families, couples, friends and conference and events delegates who want to get immersed in Bath's history and culture.

The Ultimate Bath City Break package starts from £269.

Book direct at <https://www.apexhotels.co.uk/offers/the-ultimate-city-break>

Immerse yourself in the city of Bath

Bath is steeped in history – and that’s not just down to the legacy of its Roman architecture. Designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1987, this Somerset city is awash with features of global significance, and taking a step into its history gives us some insight into our own cultural evolution.

There’s a real community feel about the city and it has developed a cosmopolitan atmosphere in recent years.

Honey-coloured Georgian townhouses are now home to thriving young businesses, but the city’s rich history has been preserved alongside its evolution.

The museums and attractions are perfect for those of all ages eager to learn more about the historic city.

A fresh look at Bath’s activities

There are plenty of places for history buffs and culture vultures to explore in Bath.

- Roman Baths
One Northern Europe’s most popular visitor attractions, the baths house the remains of one of the greatest religious spas of the ancient world. Costumed characters guide visitors through the site’s history.
- The Egg
The Egg at the Theatre Royal is billed as ‘a centre for creativity, innovation and young people’ and it’s packed with cracking activities for people of all ages.
- Bath City Farm
With ponies, cattle, chickens, sheep, pigs and goats the city farm is a completely different experience to anything in the city, and great for anyone looking for something a bit less history-focused.
- Victoria Falls Adventure Golf
Mini golf with a backdrop of waterfalls and waterways. What’s not to like? Small and big kids will enjoy getting outdoors for pitch and putt.
- Walk the Skyline
Organised by the National Trust, this popular trek offers spectacular views of Bath city, the Mendip Hills and Somerset.
- The Jane Austen Centre
This permanent exhibition is a great learning tool for visitors of all ages.
- Fashion Museum
From getting the chance to try on a ‘make-believe’ Georgian dress, to creating your own lace pattern, the popular attraction provides hours of stylish entertainment.

For some ‘me’ time, attractions like Bath Abbey, the Victoria Art Gallery, and the hot springs at the Thermae Bath Spa will be just the ticket.

Meet the team

The team at Apex City of Bath Hotel can't wait to welcome guests from nearby – and further afield – when the hotel opens its doors.

Tim O'Sullivan, General Manager

Amanda Jones, Sales Director

Ben Abercrombie, Head Chef

Press office

Please direct any media enquiries or requests for high-res hotel images to Beattie Communications by emailing apex@onlybeattie.com or calling 01698 787 878.